The Director briefed the members on the intelligence community structure and on the functions of the Agency in general terms and then entertained questions. Representative Benjamin Rosenthal (D., N. Y.) and Representative Donald M. Fraser (D., Minn.) pressed the Director on the Agency's role in affairs in Greece. Representative Michael Harrington (D., Mass.) pressed his point about Committee jurisdiction over the Agency's operations since he feels those operations affect foreign policy. The Director countered that our activities are conducted in furtherance of foreign policy and at the direction of the policy makers. The meeting lasted one hour and thirty minutes and most members seemed to feel that it was a worthwhile session.
